

Book I

1. Socrates and Glaucon have been to the Piraeus. What must the date of this encounter be (no earlier than ... extra credit - no later than)?

2. According to Cephalus, he has escaped a demented master. What master and how did he escape?

3. Do the rich have many consolations? Which one are we talking about in 330 a-b?

4. What makes certain people irritating to be with?

5. In 330d, Socrates asks Cephalon another question. What is the question and what is Cephalon's answer?

6. A definition is tried and refuted at 331d. What is it?

7. The argument shifts characters (to Polemarchus) and definitions (to Simonedes the Poet's saying). What is this definition at 332a?

13. At 345c, the argument becomes more particular. do practitioners of disciplines do them of their own free will?

14. A proposition is made at 349c. What is it?

15. What does injustice do? (352a).

16. Socrates is now ready to attack the main question (347 e) -what is this argument?
